Course Description

Study and application of the techniques necessary for coherent expression in creative musical work. Students are assigned original compositions to explore motivic, harmonic, and formal design as well as style, idiom, and orchestration to create effective and meaningful works. Registration is based on previous written work and the permission of the instructor. One class meeting per week. 3 credits. (F-S)

Student Learning Outcomes

Under the guidance and supervision of the instructor, students will develop an individual plan of study focusing on their technical needs and creative aspirations. Student learning outcomes are therefore unique for each student and semester of study, but it is generally expected that upon successful completion of this course students will be able to:

- Identify aurally and visually key works from the 20th and 21st century repertoires through listening quizzes and score recognition
- Describe key compositional techniques and styles
- Illustrate an entrepreneurial mindset
- Apply several taught techniques in their own work
- Analyze seminal works from the contemporary repertoire
- Compose at least 10 minutes of approved music each semester (depending on the scope and instrumentation of pieces)

All students will demonstrate the ability to compose music that is professionally notated, technically adept and displays creativity, appropriate structure and form, idiomatic awareness, sophistication and a broad scope of materials.

Attendance Policies

Attendance is mandatory for all lessons, events listed on the Composition Seminar syllabus, and all seminars (Wednesdays 12:00- 12:50). Students are responsible for making up the missed work.

Grade will be negatively affected after two absences. Failure to attend 4 combined meetings (composition seminars and composition lessons) could result in one letter grade drop from the final grade (minus 10% of the final grade). For example, A will become B, and B+ will become C+, etc. The student is expected to show up for their weekly lesson at the arranged day and time. There will be no changes to this arranged time once the semester begins. Make-up lessons will be offered under special circumstances only (student's illness or family emergency, instructor's unavailability due to travel) and are subject to instructor's discretion. If extra help is needed, the student is welcome to arrange a meeting with the instructor.

In accordance with Federal Law, students with a disability documented through Student Accessibility Services (SAS) may require reasonable accommodations to ensure equitable access. A student with an attendance accommodation, who misses a scheduled course time due to a documented disability, must be provided an equivalent opportunity to make up missed time and/or coursework within a reasonable timeframe. An accommodation that affects attendance is not an attendance waiver and no accommodation can fundamentally alter a course requirement.

In accordance with New York State law, students who miss class due to their religious beliefs shall be excused from class or examinations on that day. The faculty member is responsible for providing the student with an equivalent opportunity to make up any examination, study, or work requirement that the student may have missed. Any such work is to be completed within a reasonable time frame, as determined by the faculty member.

Any student who misses class due to a family or individual health emergency or a required appearance in a court of law shall be excused. If the emergency is prolonged or if the student is incapacitated, then the student or a family member/legal guardian should report the absence to the Dean of Students or the Dean of the academic school where the student's program is housed. Students may consider a leave of absence, medical leave of absence, selected course withdrawals, etc., if they miss a significant portion of classwork.

A student may be excused to participate in local, state, or federal elections. The student is responsible to make up any work that is missed due to the absence. Any such work is to be completed within a reasonable time frame.

A student may be excused for participation in college-authorized, co-curricular and extracurricular activities if, in the instructor's judgment, this does not impair the specific student's or the other students' ability to succeed in the course.

For all absences except those due to religious beliefs, the course instructor has the right to determine if the number of absences has been excessive in view of the nature of the class that was missed and the stated attendance policy. You should notify me as soon as possible of any anticipated absences. Please refer to the Undergraduate Catalog for the attendance policies at Ithaca College as well as other useful information regarding Registration and Course Information:

<https://catalog.ithaca.edu/undergrad/academic-information/registration-course>.

Please visit the following link for more information on Student Responsibilities and expectations as well as the Handbook: <https://catalog.ithaca.edu/undergrad/student-information/responsibilities>

Course Activities

Compositional work, ancillary exercises on specific techniques, listening and analysis of works from the literature. Students are required to keep a weekly journal of compositional activities and be prepared to discuss at least one work from the recommended listening list at each weekly meeting.

At each lesson students are expected to bring with them:

1. A printed copy of the piece they are working on (in case they don't have a handwritten score). Optionally, the students can also email an electronic copy of the piece they are working on in

PDF or XML format. In case students are working on a handwritten score, then the score must be scanned using a high quality/definition format.

2. The journal of the weekly composition activities, detailing how they engaged with the points discussed at the previous week's meeting and a synopsis of their compositional activities for the whole week. The journal should include a list of works they listened to that week.
3. The previous week's printed or electronic copy of the music they were working on with instructor's comments to discuss their progress and trace the changes.

Assignments

The instructor may require technical work, including short composition exercises as well as listening and analysis assignments, to help the student's development of specific writing skills. Students are expected to complete all composition projects by the final exam date or the last day of classes. Assignments must be emailed on time. Late assignments will be penalized 20%. Exceptions apply to works-in-progress. The use of a computer notation program, such as Finale or Sibelius, is recommended but not required. Manuscript scores may be written in pencil and must be clearly legible. They must be scanned and sent to the instructor using high quality scanner settings.

If a student wants to request an extension, then they must request said extension by e-mail at least 24 hours in advance of the project's due date. A request does not guarantee an extension. Extensions will be granted at the discretion of the instructor. If an extension is granted, then the project's grade will drop by a 1/3 of a grade every calendar day after the original due date. For example, if a project is due on Monday at 12:00 p.m., then any project submitted at 12:01 p.m. will be docked a third of a grade until Tuesday at 11:59 a.m. If the project is turned in on Tuesday at 12:00 p.m., then it will be docked by two-thirds of a grade.

Composition Seminar

All composition majors are required to attend the Composition Seminars on Wednesdays at 12:00.

Seminars offer an excellent opportunity to interact with other composition students and attend lectures/presentations by established composers.

Lesson exchanges

There will be a lesson exchange for the week 23 – 27 October. The Karel Husa Visiting Professor of Composition Residency by George Lewis will take place from 23- 25 and students will have lessons and masterclasses with the composer. There will be another lesson exchange for the week 6 – 10 November as the Composition Immersion Day will take place on 4 November.

Detailed schedules for the Karel Husa Visiting Professor of Composition Residency and the Composition Immersion Day will be given at the beginning of the semester.

Composition Premieres Concert

All composition majors are required to present at least one work in one of the Composition Premieres Concerts each semester. It is the student's responsibility to submit all requested materials by the specified deadlines found in the Composition Seminar syllabus.

Entrepreneurship

The instructor encourages students to seek opportunities to expose their work to a wider audience. Entrepreneurial activities for an emerging composer include but are not limited to submitting scores to off-campus performers/ensembles, festivals, calls-for-scores and competitions; engaging in interdisciplinary, collaborative projects; and starting/maintaining a composer's website. Students are required to submit a list of semester entrepreneurial activities by Monday of finals week via e-mail.

Mid-Point Portfolio Evaluation (Concerns 24100 / 24200 / 34100)

At the end of sophomore year, all composition students will meet with the composition faculty (or via videocall) to evaluate their progress toward successful completion of the Composition Portfolio and to check their progress toward the composition degree. Should progress be insufficient, the student may be given advice on what areas to improve. In case the student's performance is considered severely deficient, the student may be advised to withdraw or change their major. It is expected that by the end of the Sophomore year, students should have completed at least two compositions that will be part of their final portfolio evaluation.

Final Portfolio Evaluation (Concerns 44100 / 44200)

At the end of senior year, all composition students are required to submit a portfolio in electronic format to the composition faculty. A passing grade in Composition/senior level- Spring (MUTH 44200) will be contingent upon a passing grade on the Composition Portfolio. Should the student be given a failing grade for their Composition Portfolio, then he/she will receive a failing grade in MUTH 44200. Students are advised to check with their instructors to ensure they are making adequate progress toward the successful completion of the Composition Portfolio.

Portfolio consists of works for:

1. Solo piano
2. Solo voice collection with accompaniment
3. One or more strings
4. Electronic media
5. Chamber ensemble
6. Large ensemble
7. Choir

NOTE: a piece may only fulfill one category, e.g., a string quartet may fulfill "work for one or more strings" or "chamber work" but not both.

Guidelines for Presenting at Composition Seminar

Presentations should focus on one or two representative works composed as part of the student's portfolio during their composition lessons at Ithaca College, giving plenty of technical examples and analysis. Presentations should last about 20 minutes, allowing for a 5-minute discussion. They should not be autobiographical, but rather focus on techniques used, methodology, and aesthetic choices.

Composition Recital Guidelines (MUTH 49800)

Composition Recitals should demonstrate the student's most representative compositions. Only works composed under composition faculty supervision can be accepted. The program should include approximately 45 minutes of music. Under no circumstances should the total time of the recital (including stage changes) exceed 60 minutes. The recital should comprise primarily of as many pieces of the official portfolio as possible, thus demonstrating a variety of performing forces. While addressing the audience briefly for acknowledgements is appropriate, speaking to the audience should not be a replacement for program notes. All recital programs should contain program notes for every piece as well as clearly mention the performers for each work and duration.

Grading
Composition projects/exercises	80%
Attendance	10%
Listening Quizzes	5%
Entrepreneurship (with proof of entrepreneurial activities):	5%

Each Composition will be graded based on its creativity, technique, successful structure shape and form, idiomatic awareness, sophistication of the compositional language used, and notation.

Instructional Time	Envisaged allocated composition time	Total Hours
3 Credit Lessons 1 hour of instructional time per week	7 hours per week on average, recognizing that some weeks may require more hours and other weeks may require fewer. At least 5 of these hours should be spent on composing, and the rest for preparing for the two listening quizzes, undertaking entrepreneurship activities, listening, and analyzing scores	15 in lessons + 105 supplementary = 120 hours

Grading System

The acceptable grades and corresponding points for grade point average (GPA) calculations are as follows. All grades except P, I, S, W, NG and DG are used in calculating a student's GPA. Ithaca College Standards of Academic Conduct

The Ithaca College Policy Manual describes the Standards of Academic Content embedded in the Student Code of Conduct. It is the responsibility of every student and faculty member to be familiar with, and comply with, these expectations for rigor, authenticity, trust, and honesty in academic work. You may find the full policy at the following web link: <https://www.ithaca.edu/policy-manual/volume-vii-students/71-general-student-policies/714-standards-academic-conduct>

We will discuss this policy more thoroughly in our course. As the Policy Manual states, “Because Ithaca College is an academic community, ignorance of the accepted standards of academic honesty in no way affects the responsibility of students who violate standards of conduct in courses and other academic activities.”

Academic Honesty / Dishonesty and Plagiarism

All assignments for this class should be original compositions. Ithaca College sets very high standards for academic integrity that have helped shape the quality of its offered degrees. Students are strongly advised to familiarize themselves with the Ithaca College Policy Manual, Vol. VII “Pertaining to the Student Community,” including reviewing the “Student Conduct Code.” Any violations of academic honor and honesty will not be tolerated in this course under any circumstances. For policies regarding fair use/copyright and plagiarism, the Ithaca College Policy Manual states: “Whether intended or not, plagiarism is a serious offense against academic honesty. Under any circumstances, it is deceitful to represent as one's own work, writing or ideas that belong to another person. Students should be aware of how this offense is defined. Plagiarism is the unacknowledged use of someone else's published or unpublished ideas, whether this use consists of directly quoted material or paraphrased ideas.”

Staff in the office will answer questions by phone at 607-274-3136; please leave a voicemail if you do not reach a live person. You can also reach the office via email at counseling@ithaca.edu. CAPS hours remain Monday-Friday 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. After-hours connections to a live counselor are available by calling the CAPS number and following the prompts.

Diminished mental health, including significant stress, mood changes, excessive worry, or problems with eating and/or sleeping can interfere with optimal academic performance. The source of symptoms might be strictly related to your course work; if so, please speak with me. However, problems with relationships, family worries, loss, or a personal struggle or crisis can also contribute to decreased academic performance.

In the event I suspect you need additional support, expect that I will express to you, my concerns. It is not my intent to know the details of what might be troubling you, but simply to let you know I am concerned and that help, if needed, is available. Remember, getting help is a smart and courageous thing to do.
